Before the Pretzels

Before you meet Zoe and Milo, warm up your reading brain — and your handwriting — on last week's skills AND today's new ones.

REV Quick Review from Week 1: In your own words, what does it mean to INFER something while reading? Write your answer in a full sentence.

1 Match each word to its meaning. Write the matching letter next to each word.

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

One Afternoon, Two Stories

You read Zoe's side and Milo's side. Now show what you learned about perspective, motive, and theme — with your very best handwriting.

1. In 3-4 sentences, describe how Zoe's perspective on the pretzel moment was different from Milo's. Use complete sentences and your neatest handwriting.

2. Find ONE line of DIALOGUE (actual words a character says) from either Zoe's or Milo's side of the story. Copy it exactly, word for word, in your best handwriting.

3. In your own words, write what this story's THEME is. Write in full sentences.

★ Challenge: Write the SAME short moment (4-5 sentences) from two different perspectives — like a sibling, friend, or classmate seeing the same event differently. Use your best cursive or print — this is a handwriting sample, so take your time!

Handwriting Check: Before turning this in, look back over everything you wrote today. Are your letters sitting on the lines? Are your capital letters and periods where they should be?

Looking Ahead: Next week, a new story and a new challenge — bring this sheet back to your next lesson!

POST-LESSON CHALLENGE · DO THIS AFTER YOUR COMPUTER LESSON

What Did I Learn?

Use evidence from today's lesson. Write in complete sentences.

1. Explain how the Underground Railroad worked. Who did most of the work, and what risks did they take?

2. Why did the Southern states secede? Quote or describe words from one secession declaration as evidence.

3. Was the Emancipation Proclamation the end of slavery? Explain what it did and did not do.

4. Pick two people from today (for example, Tubman and Smalls). How were their fights for freedom alike and different?

★ Challenge: Write a short speech, like an abolitionist's, to persuade people in 1860 that slavery must end. Use at least one fact from today's lesson as evidence.

Looking Ahead: Next week: Reconstruction, the years after the war when Americans rebuilt the nation, wrote three new amendments and argued about what freedom would mean. Bring this question: after slavery ended, what would freedpeople need to be truly free?
